

13th Annual Stock Market Competition Student and Teacher Evaluations

On November 8, 589 students from 23 schools and educational organizations played the market and learned valuable lessons about mathematics, finance and everyday life skills in the process. Your sponsorship helped make this event possible, and for that, JAWM, the students and their teachers all thank you!

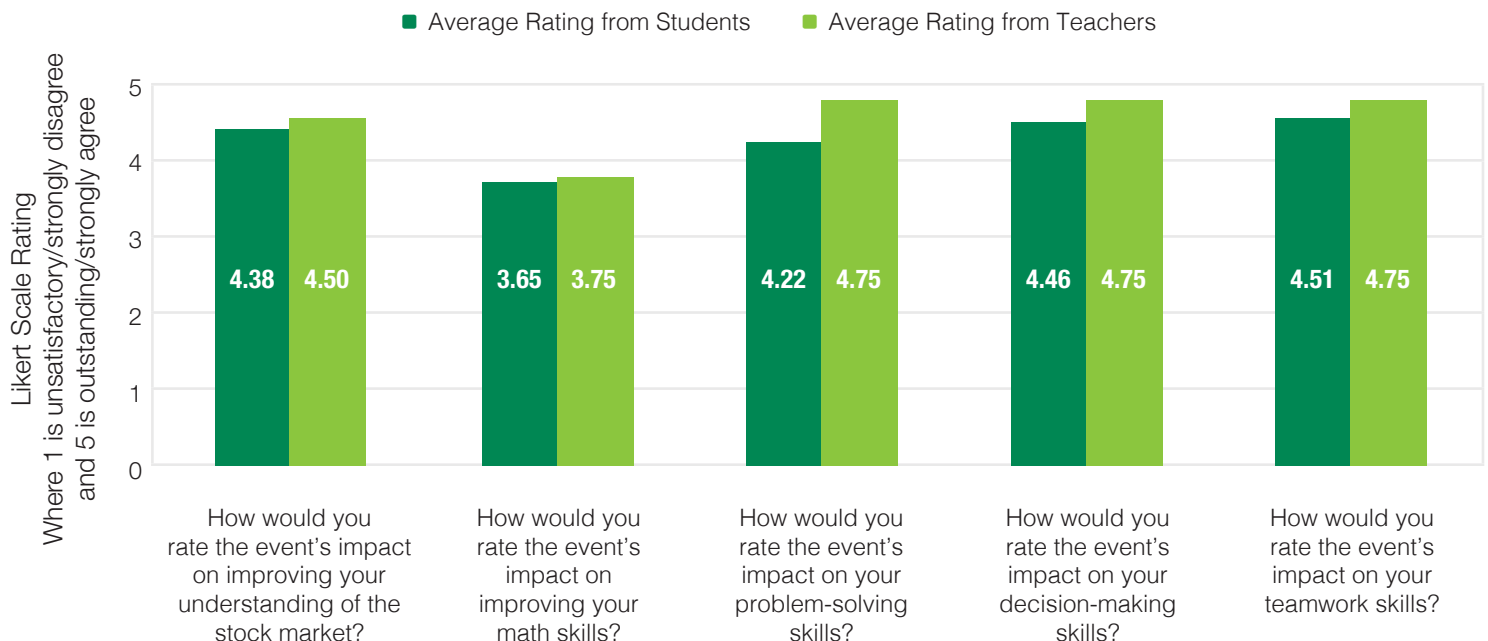

Teacher Commentary

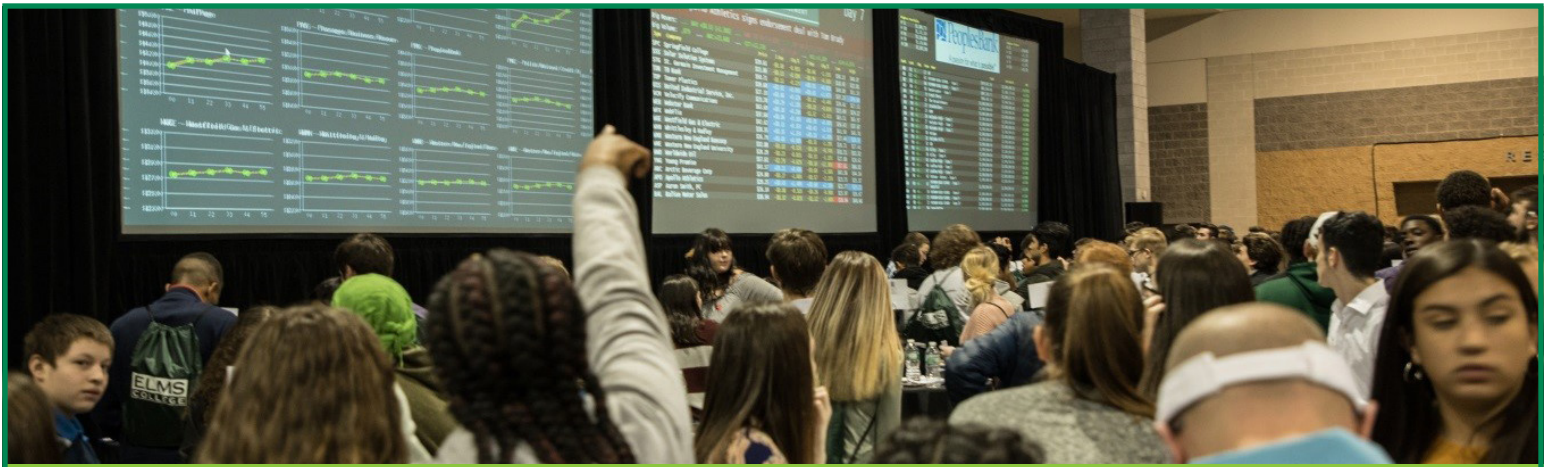

The best part was...

- All the students interacting with each other.
—Mr. Murry, SABIS International Charter School
- How engaged the students were in the event.
—Ms. Paleologopoulos, a Chicopee Comprehensive High School teacher
- Watching the students apply prior knowledge and have fun doing so.
—Ms. Duguay, an Easthampton High School teacher

Student Commentary

Where “the atmosphere” (West Springfield High School student) and “the realness of it” (West Springfield High School student) of the Stock Market Competition help to keep students’ attention, many participants walk away from this event with valuable insights:

- It is challenging and you have to use teamwork.
—St. Thomas the Apostle student
- Actually seeing how a stock market works.
—Westfield High School student
- Helped me understand the stock market better.
—Ludlow High School student
- The best part of this event is being able to buy stocks, which helped my group learn how to work together.
—Kiley Middle School student
- The application to real world experience.
—Taconic High School student
- It was very fast paced and intense but very rewarding.
—Easthampton High School student

We teach life in a way they'll actually use it.
